

2023 GLUTEN-FREE HALLOWEEN TREATS LIST

Smarties

All Smarties® candy made by Smarties Candy Company is gluten-free and safe for people with Celiac Disease. There are some products with the Smarties brand that are not manufactured by Smarties Candy Company. We recommend always checking a product's ingredients prior to purchase. If the UPC number on the packaging begins with "0 11206", you can be assured that the product is gluten-free, manufactured in a facility that makes exclusively gluten-free products and safe to eat for people with Celiac Disease.

Jelly Belly

According to their website: "All flavors of Jelly Belly beans are free of gluten. We do not use any wheat, rye, barley, or oats in the basic recipe for Jelly Belly jelly beans. The modified food starch listed on the package is cornstarch."

NOTE: On occasion, other companies repackage our products in their own production facilities. If our product is packaged and distributed by another company, it will be noted on the package. Please check with the repackaging company regarding possible allergen exposure. In addition, licensed goods that bear our name, but are produced by other companies, may contain peanuts, tree nuts, milk, egg products and/or other allergens.

Mars and Wrigley

According to their website: "Each product page has ingredient information. Any ingredient added as part of the recipe, whether it is a source of allergen or not, will appear in the ingredient declaration or listing on the packaging. This ingredient declaration provides the latest and most accurate information."

This company may not list top 8 allergens, so they suggest reading all individual product labels

Spangler Candy

According to their website: "Dum-Dums, Saf-T-Pops, Swirl Saf-T-Pops, and Candy Canes do not contain the gluten protein found in wheat, barley, rye, or oats. We have contacted our suppliers on the ingredients we use, including sugar, corn syrup, citric, malic, lactic acid, ascorbic acid, artificial flavors & colors, starch, release agents, and processing aids. These products do not contain the gluten protein that causes a problem for people with celiac sprue. Learn more about Spangler Candy gluten-free products."

Tootsie Roll

According to their website: "At this time, all of our confections are gluten-free. We do not use wheat, barley, rye, oats, triticale, spelt or any of their components and that includes our dusting on our conveyor belts. We do use corn and soy products in the manufacturing of our products."

Just Born

According to the company's website: "We offer many gluten-free products under the MIKE AND IKE®, HOT TAMALES®, PEEPS®, GOLDENBERG'S® PEANUT CHEWS®, TEENEE BEANEE® and JUST BORN® brands and we are in the process of updating package labels to include gluten-free statements where appropriate. The modified food starch that we use in our candies is corn starch. However, because some of our products may be manufactured and/or packaged in a facility that may also handle non gluten-free products, we encourage consumers to read the labels carefully for the most up-to-date ingredient and allergen information. For further questions, please call our Consumer Relations Team toll-free at 1-888-645-3453."

Ferrara

According to their website "For gluten-free product-specific information, please contact Ferrara Consumer Relations by completing the Contact Us form. Due to changes that may occur in the manufacturing and packaging environments, Ferrara does not provide allergen or gluten-free lists on this site."

This listing may be used only as a guide as manufacturers may change ingredients and formulas at any time. Consumers should always read the ingredients label and verify any questions with the manufacturer.
